Are Kentucky schools safe? The Kentucky Center for School Safety (KCSS) is committed to assisting schools in becoming as safe an environment as possible for the children of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The following report is one of the many tasks that KCSS completes each year in that endeavor.

School safety is paramount not only to KCSS, but to every parent who has a child in a Kentucky public school. However, let's consider school safety in the larger context of child safety. While a child is in school approximately seven hours, the other seventeen hours are spent elsewhere in the community. Whether a child rides a school bus or private car or walks, getting the child to and from school safely propels us into the discussion of traffic safety. On the other hand, visiting a local shopping mall, a park, recreational center, museum, or other public place begs the question of public safety. Reports of domestic violence and abuse relate to issues of personal safety. As important as school safety is, we should not view school safety in isolation, but in the broader context of community safety. When we place school safety in context, we realize that the safety of our children is not the responsibility of schools or parents alone, but that of all who live in the community. Keeping our children safe can only be accomplished through a coordinated effort among parents, school personnel, community groups, and every citizen.

As this fifth Safe Schools Data report is published, we urge schools and communities to use this data in conjunction with school officials to help make our communities safer – both in school and out-of-school.

I N T R O D U C T I O N

The Kentucky Center for School Safety (KCSS) has reported discipline data from school districts since the Safe Schools Data Project began in 1998 as a pilot project. In the beginning, with partial funding from a federal grant, the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) collaborated with the Research Triangle Institute (RTI) in North Carolina to design an electronic reporting system. Individual schools completed specific data-gathering worksheets and then entered the data into a Web database managed by RTI. After arranging and sorting the data for interpretation purposes, KCSS and KDE received the data for analysis and a report was issued. For the second year, 1999-2000, the data collection process remained essentially unchanged; however, additional attendance data were collected regarding suspensions and expulsions. KCSS contracted with R.E.A.C.H. of Louisville, Inc. to analyze, interpret, and write the project report. Three separate reports were issued organized around state, regional and district-level summaries. In the third year of the collection process as in previous years, data were entered into an electronic system operated by the Research Triangle Institute and each district confirmed electronic completion of the data. The data set was then sent to R.E.A.C.H. for entry into a statistical analysis program and subsequently forwarded to KCSS for interpretation, analysis, and writing. In the third year of reporting, Eastern Kentucky University staff consolidated these responsibilities and was solely responsible for producing the report. The third report combined district, regional and state data into one report and was issued in March 2002. In the fourth year of data collection, school districts, with the exception of Jefferson County, used the STI software for data collection and electronically transported their data to KDE. Superintendents were given a final chance to check the data and returned a signed verification sheet to KDE.

Historical Perspective

The fifth year of data collection is the first time that data collection procedures have been identical to those used the previous year. The reporting format has changed somewhat in that we are no longer reporting alternative placements as a disciplinary action. Collection of alternative placements as disciplinary actions has been problematic from the beginning. Consider that an alternative placement is often the result of a pattern of behavior rather than a single event. A suspension or expulsion has frequently been levied as a disciplinary action for a specific behavioral incident awaiting the results of the referral process to an alternative setting. Since each behavioral incident must be connected to one disciplinary action, suspensions and expulsions are reported first to ensure accurate reporting of all out-of-school proceedings. To prevent duplicate counting of disciplinary actions, the alternative placement that may have occurred following the suspension of expulsion would not be reported; therefore, creating a under-reporting of alternative placements. Since alternative placements may not be as accurate as other disciplinary actions; moreover, it is the Center's belief that alternative placements should be considered an intervention, expulsion (with and without services), suspensions and corporal punishment are the only reported disciplinary actions at the district level. However, in order to remain consistent with past years and to allow for comparisons between years, charts that have total disciplinary actions will include alternative placements. As a result, the task of analyzing and reporting the state's disciplinary data is quite monumental, as 1,265 schools report four categories of disciplinary actions for nine board policy violations and three categories of disciplinary actions for thirty-three law violations. This creates a lengthy process of compiling, sorting and crosschecking the data before analysis can begin. However, without this arduous and tedious attention to detail, confidence in the data would be compromised.

Data Collection Year Five

As in past years, the data are first reported for all students. Data for Caucasian and African-American students are then disaggregated when the number of African-American students in the district is large enough to allow reporting without violating the Federal Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Asian American, Hispanic American, American Indian, and other racial groups are not reported since their numbers are so small in most Kentucky counties that privacy rules might be violated.

Although with continued training support from KDE and KCSS data definitions have remained constant, there are areas that need additional consideration. Those areas include:

- 1) Board policy violation categories. There is still variability across districts as to how they report an incident that is not included in the current list. For example, disturbance on a bus is often reported as a class disturbance since that is the closest match from the list.
- 2) Unique identifier. The discipline data are reported by incident and disciplinary action. Assigning each Kentucky student a unique number that would move with them regardless of where they were enrolled would allow the data to be analyzed more comprehensively. For example, a unique identifier would allow the dis-aggregation of the data by placement in special education, mobility, low socio-economic status, repeat offenders, limited English proficiency, etc. Currently, we are unable to perform these types of analyses and that limits the interpretative value of the data.

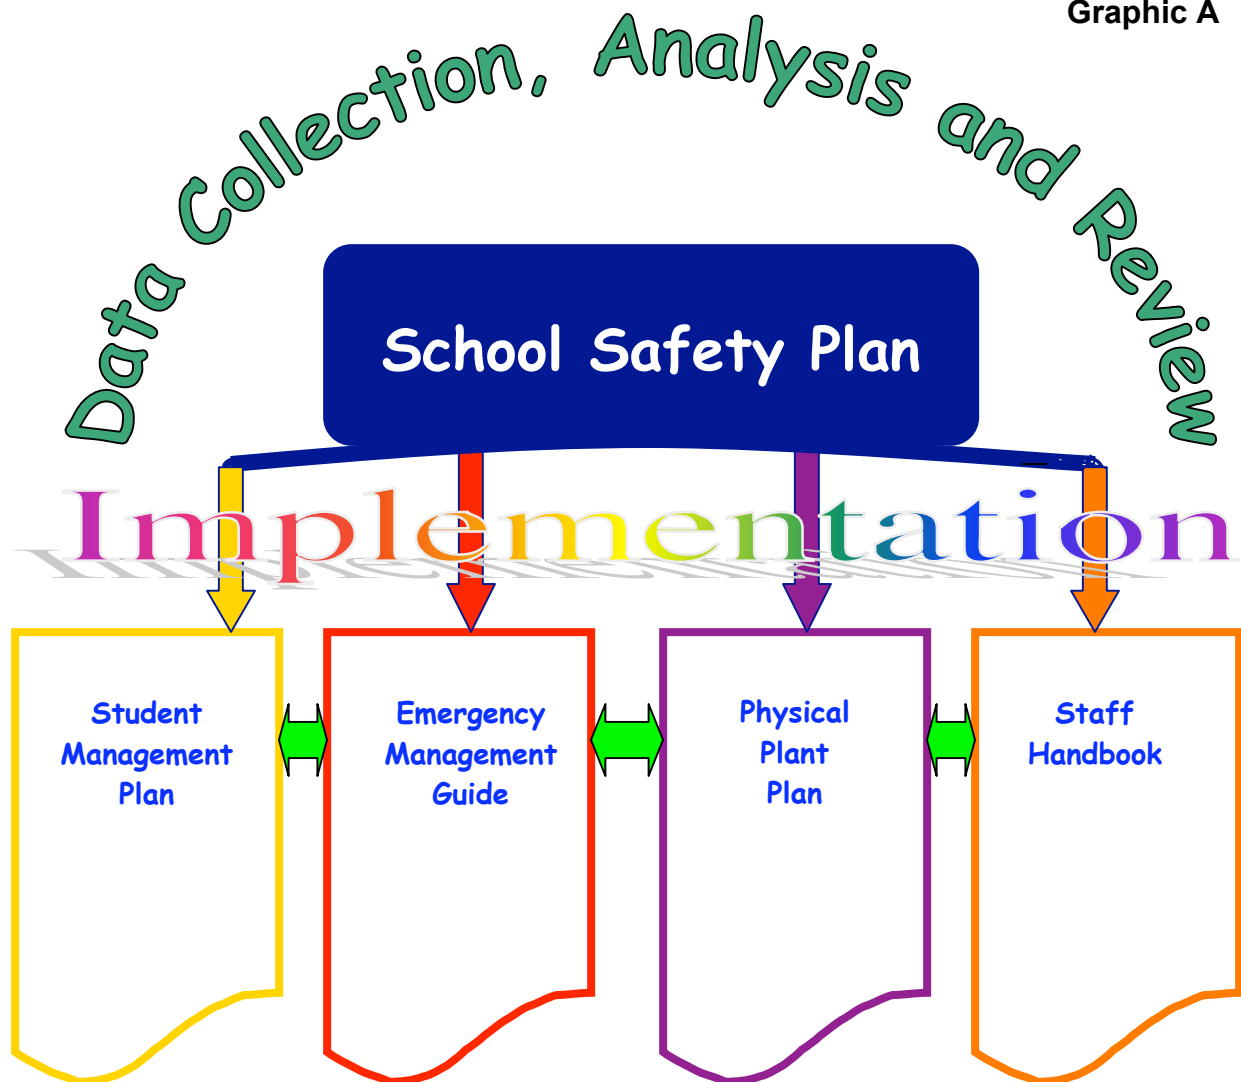

KCSS has worked diligently over the past five years to provide a report that reflects as accurately as possible a picture of student behavior in Kentucky schools. Each year our confidence has grown in our data collection procedures and this year's report is reflective of the developmental process that has occurred.

The passage of HB330 in 1998 not only created the Kentucky Center for School Safety, but also required all Kentucky public schools to create a school safety plan. Additionally, schools were mandated to report all discipline data to the Kentucky Department of Education. While the bill does not specifically link these two activities, a school safety plan cannot be considered comprehensive unless there is a direct link between the data collection and the planning processes.

Section I Using this Report

Let's consider what is essential in a comprehensive school safety plan. Graphic A illustrates that four components are necessary for a school safety plan to be considered comprehensive, i.e., Student Management Plan, Emergency Management Plan, Physical Plant Plan and Staff Handbook. However, the over-arching representation of data symbolizes the necessity for data to be collected, analyzed and reviewed at every step of the planning process.

Graphic A

DATA COLLECTION, ANALYSIS AND REVIEW

First and foremost, a school safety plan must begin with the collection of data. A school should begin the development of a school safety plan with the collection and/or consolidation of several types of data. A school should use the data collected for this report as a starting point. Data regarding suspension, expulsion and corporal punishment, as well as other discipline responses that occurred as a result of an office discipline referral should be compiled. Next, a format similar to the one below should be used to analyze the data:

1. Collect other forms of data, i.e., observational and student, staff and parent surveys, and combine with discipline data.
2. Sort the data by location, month, time, gender, ethnicity and type. Depict the data graphically or pictorially.
3. Analyze the data by posing several questions:
  - 3.1. What are the most frequent infractions?
  - 3.2. Where and when are they occurring?
  - 3.3. What are your least frequent infractions?
  - 3.4. Where and when are they occurring?
  - 3.5. Who are your most frequent offenders?
  - 3.6. Is there a common denominator among repeat offenders, type of infraction occurring most frequently, and location and time of most infractions?
4. Sort the data into four categories for possible changes: Structural, Organizational, Instructional, and Rules and Policies.

The goal with the data collection and analysis is to produce information that drives planning and decision-making.

Student Management Plan: Every school should clearly articulate the rules and expectations for positive student behavior. Frequently schools call this a Discipline Plan or Code of Conduct; however, rather than a list of “Thou Shall Nots”, the plan should clearly specify expectations for student behavior that will result in student success. An approach to developing the Student Management Plan is to:

1. Use the school data to direct the development of a pro-active student management plan that acts as a guide for positive student behavior and sets the stage for student success.
2. Include the school’s mission and a philosophy of behavior management that treats students with respect and dignity while placing the responsibility for behavior squarely on the shoulders of the student.
3. Address misbehavior in the plan. Rather than give a finite listing of infractions with a corresponding consequence, construct a menu of disciplinary consequences for misbehavior. This will provide staff the opportunity to consider the degree and frequency of the misbehavior before choosing an appropriate consequence.

Emergency Management Guide: In a natural or man-made disaster, events occur that necessitate the coordination and delivery of crisis intervention and response services. Consequently, schools must be prepared with a plan of action, which is really a set of plans rather than one overall plan. For every possible emergency situation, a school should have a plan that addresses readiness, response and recovery and identifies the responsibilities of each staff for each stage. For example, responding to a fire in a school is very different than responding to a tornado; therefore, a plan for each is necessary. Practice drills are necessary to ensure that staff and students know how to respond to emergency situations. Check the KCSS website, www.kysafeschools.org, and the United States Department of Education's Office of Safe and Drug-Free Schools website, www.ed.gov/admins/lead/safety/emergencyplan/index.html for additional information in developing emergency management and crisis procedures.

Physical Plant Plan: Creating a safe and healthy learning environment necessitates maintaining an appropriate physical setting. The plan should require that a complete safety inspection of the building and grounds be conducted annually. Additionally, requisite monthly safety checks should be implemented as mitigating unsafe conditions may arise in short periods of time. All staff members should be made aware of the process for reporting potentially unsafe conditions to the principal for a timely response to remedy the unsafe conditions.

Staff Handbook: A staff handbook is a vital tool for not only the new teacher, but the seasoned teacher as well. A staff handbook should include everything a teacher needs to know about school rules, routines and procedures. While the rules, routines and procedures are preventive in nature, a major portion of the handbook should address positive student management and extend the student discipline plan to include staff instructional responsibilities. For example, during student arrival, the handbook will clearly identify staff responsibilities for supervision while different responsibilities may be identified for dismissal. Additionally, the handbook should outline a plan for instructing students regarding the student management and emergency management plans.

Data should always be reviewed in context. For example, a school experiencing a suspension increase could be experiencing any or all of the following: (1) a rising level of student misbehavior and school disorder; (2) an administrative accentuation on commission of offenses; or (3) a building with physical plant or staffing problems. The context should drive the intervention plan.

The Safe Schools Data Project collects data from all Kentucky public schools regarding the commission of law violations and board violations that result in one of five disciplinary actions, i.e., suspension, corporal punishment, alternative placement*, expulsion with services and expulsion without services. Kentucky's total public school population for 2002-2003 was 629,030 students. Of that total, only 8.5% students committed an offense that resulted in a suspension, corporal punishment or an expulsion (with or without services), (Lesser disciplinary actions, e.g., parent conferences, detentions, in-school suspensions, are not reported to KDE). In reviewing the upcoming data regarding commission of board and law violations, it is very important to keep in mind that over 91% of Kentucky's students were not included in the data. To illustrate that point, Chart 1 shows the percentage of offenders compared to total population.

Section II State Level Data

Kentucky Enrollment Compared to Student Offenders 2002-2003

Chart

**Total offenders include alternative placements as well as suspensions, corporal punishment and expulsions (with and without services) since the data collection process does not currently allow the separation of offender by disciplinary action.*

Chart 2 illustrates the percentage of offenders by population group. White offenders comprise 75.44% of offenders, African-Americans 22.30%, and all other racial groups, 2.26%. Since Kentucky's student population is approximately 10% African-American, their representation in the offender group is larger than their proportion in the general student population.

Student Population by Ethnicity

Offenders by Population Group

The term offender as used in Charts 1 and 2 refers to an individual student involved in committing an incident of prohibited behavior. An offender, however, may commit multiple offenses. Multiple infractions are included in disciplinary actions.

Disciplinary Actions for Violations of Board Policy

Chart 3 provides the total number of disciplinary actions for nine categories of school board policy violations for the past three years. Disciplinary actions for the current year were 3.5% higher than the total for 2001-2002. This year's increase combined with a 3.8% increase in '01-02 yields a 7.5% increase from the 2000-2001 total. The data indicate a strong upward trend in disciplinary actions for board violations and suggest the need for closer analysis at the school and district level.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions, corporal punishment and expulsions (with and without services).*

A categorical breakdown of disciplinary actions for board policy violations is depicted in Chart 4. Tobacco Violations, Profanity or Vulgarity, and Failure to Attend Detention have shown a steady decline over the three years; however, aggressive behaviors, (e.g., Fighting and Threat and Intimidation violations) have shown a more troubling upward trend. The fluctuations seen in the other six categories suggest that a trend has not yet emerged in those areas. A careful school-level analysis is necessary to examine factors that may be contributing to this increase to develop appropriate interventions.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions, corporal punishment and expulsions (with and without services).*

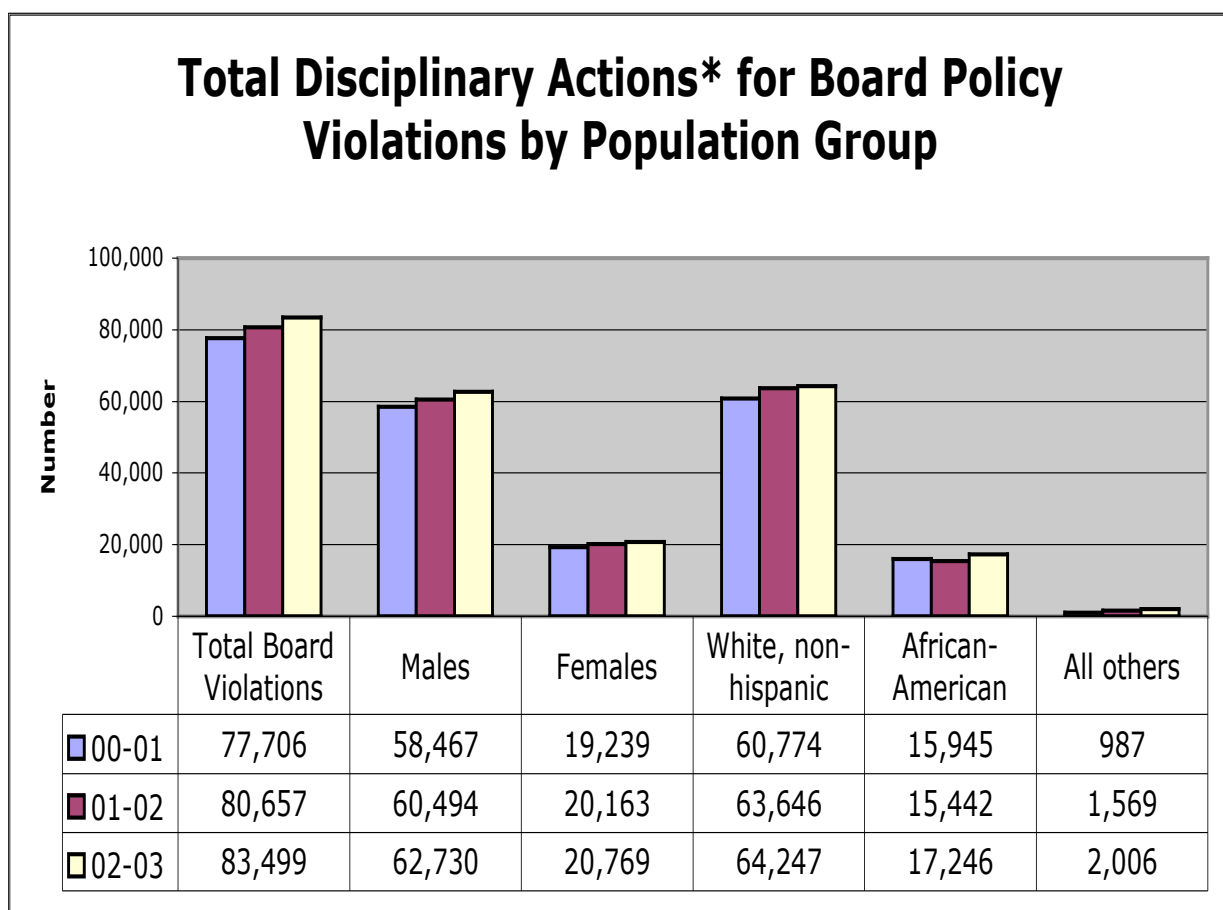

With regard to specific disciplinary actions, the results presented in Chart 5 indicate that the number of out-of-school suspensions has increased each of the three years reported. Suspensions in '02-03 increased 3.8% over the number reported in '01-02. Expulsions with and without services continue to be a relatively small number statewide and indicate an overall downward trend. Disciplinary actions involving corporal punishment '02-03 were 9.98% less than the number reported in '00-01 despite a 3.67% increase in corporal punishment from '00-01 to '01-02.

Disciplinary actions for board policy violations are disaggregated by gender and ethnicity in Chart 6. The results presented in Chart 6 indicate that the number of disciplinary actions for board violations increased during the three-year reporting period. The percentage increases from '00-01 to '02-03 for total disciplinary actions were: a. males up 7.3%, b. females up 7.95%, c. White, non-Hispanics up 5.7%, and African-Americans up 8.2%. Disciplinary actions for all other ethnic groups more than doubled, although the raw number of disciplinary actions is quite small when compared to Whites and African-Americans. The Kentucky Department of Education reports that approximately 10.4% of Kentucky's students are African-American. The proportion of disciplinary actions among white students (approximately 86.29% of the population) is 76.9% while the proportion of disciplinary actions for African-Americans is 20.7%.

Disciplinary Actions for Law Violations in Kentucky Schools

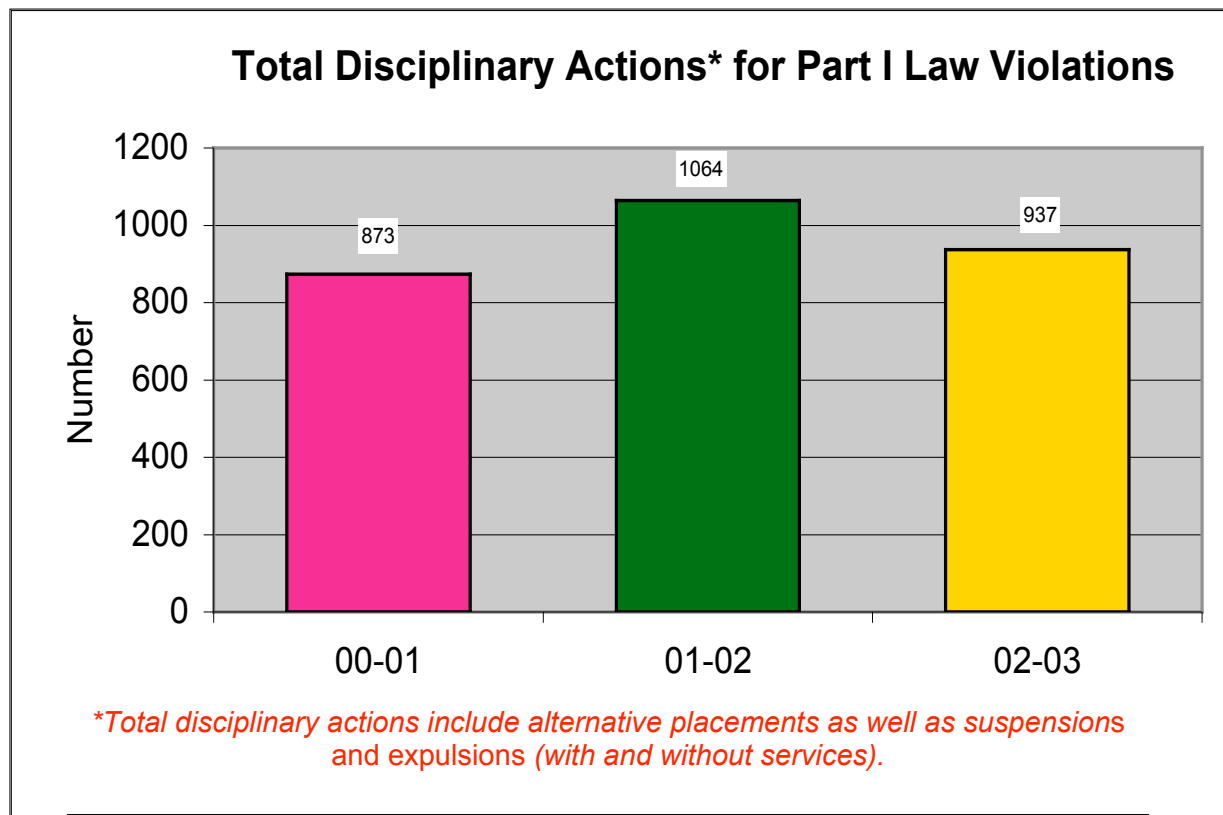

The FBI Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Form was adopted at the beginning of this reporting process as a format for reporting law violations on school grounds or at school-related activities.

Under this system, Part I crimes involve an illegal act directed against a person or property and are generally considered to be more serious offenses.

Part II law violations may result in an arrest, but are considered less serious. Definitions of Part I and Part II crimes can be found in Appendix A. The following charts show the reported incidents of Part I and Part II law violations from 2000-2003.

Disciplinary actions for Part I law violations are depicted in Chart 7. The 2002-2003 data show an 11.9% decrease in Part I law violations from the 2001-2002 school year.

Part I law violations relate to acts against a person or property and are generally considered to be more serious offenses. Refer to Appendix A for definitions of Part I and Part II law violations.

Disciplinary actions for Part I law violations by category are shown in Chart 8. Fluctuating numbers for robbery, motor vehicle theft, burglary and arson suggest that a trend has not been established at this point. Larceny-theft has steadily decreased in the past three years with this year's data showing a 52.9% decrease from '00-01. There were no reports of the most violent of Part I offenses, homicide and forcible rape, during the three years depicted; however, the 30.7% increase in disciplinary actions for aggravated assaults from '01-02 to '02-03 is troubling.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions and expulsions (with and without services).*

Total disciplinary actions for Part II law violations are shown in Chart 9. The 2002-2003 data represent a 2.1% decrease from the total in '00-01. Although small, the decrease is certainly promising. Schools should look at their own data to determine possible contributing factors for this decrease.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions and expulsions (with and without services).*

Part II law violations may result in an arrest, but are considered to be less serious than Part I crimes. Refer to Appendix A for definitions of Part I and Part II law violations.

Charts 10 and 11 depict disciplinary actions for Part II law violations by category. In Chart 10, the most significant categories are weapons A. handguns and other weapons, D. Disciplinary actions for handguns increased from 18 cases in '00-01 to 48 in '02-03 while other weapon possession decreased from 421 to 272 during the same period. Some of the increase in the handgun category may be due to better classification of weapons by school staff; thus, more accurate classification of handguns would reduce the number of other firearms and other weapons violations.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions and expulsions (with and without services).*

Note that relatively minor changes in single or double digit numbers can have a dramatic impact on percentages.

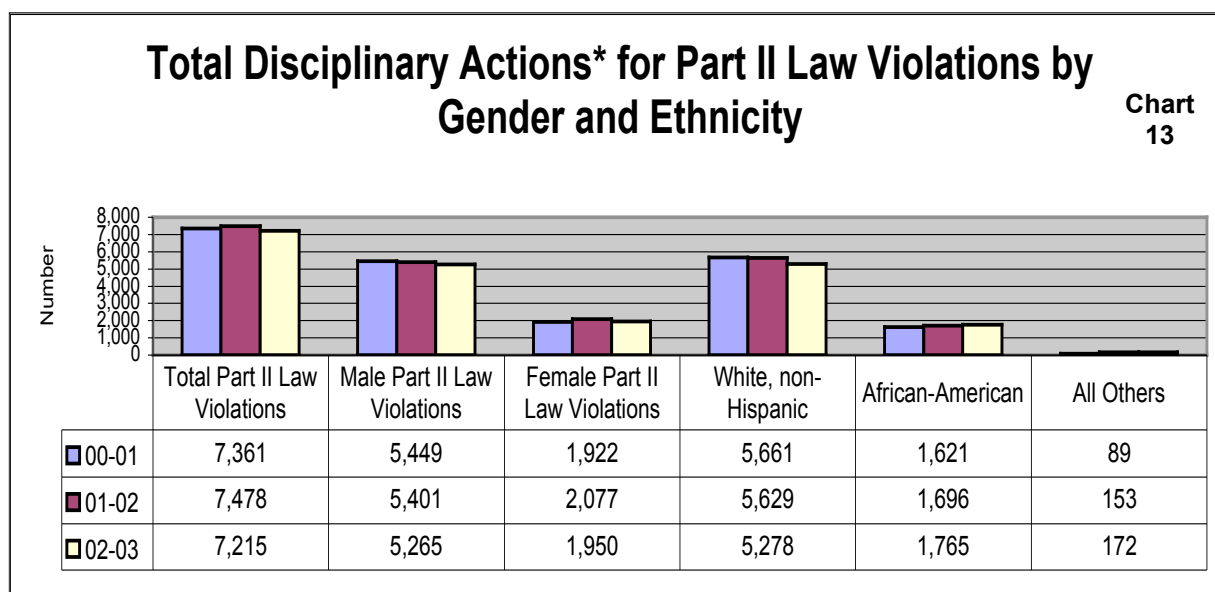

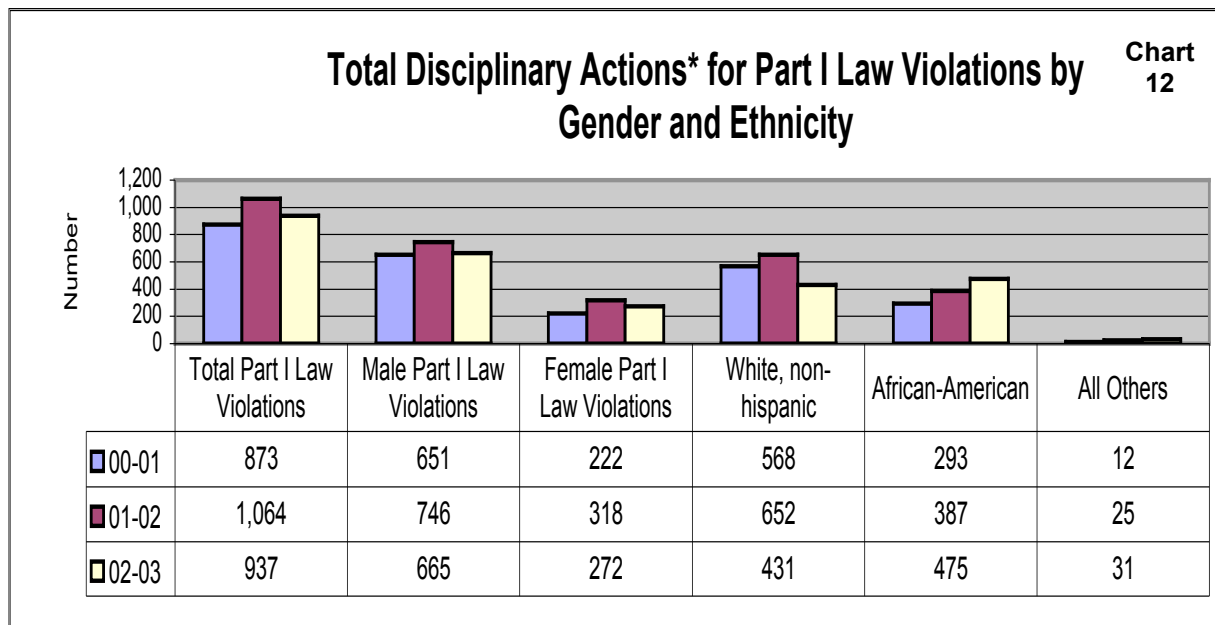

Drug abuse violations during the 2002-2003 school year decreased (8.2% from the 2001-2002 totals and 5.9% decrease over 2000-2001), which is encouraging news. However, the majority of categories of Part II law violations depicted in Chart 11 fluctuated year-to-year with the exception of vandalism (15.5% increase), drunkenness (26.3% increase), and liquor laws (25.4% decrease). Three categories of terroristic threatening (threat, bomb and chemical/bionuclear) are reported for the first time with the 2002-2003 reporting; thus no comparison can be made with past years since terroristic threatening was previously reported under all other offenses with no way to separate it from other offenses.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions and expulsions (with and without services).*

Disciplinary actions for Part I and Part II law violations are reported by ethnicity and gender in Charts 12 and 13. Here we see that representation of African-Americans in disciplinary actions for Part I and Part II law violations for '02-03 is 33.6% and 24.5%, respectively, while African-Americans students are 10.4% of the total population in Kentucky Schools. This trend is similar to national data as the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Crime in the United States - 2002 reveals that more than twice as many African-American juveniles are arrested as should be proportionate to the population. These findings suggest a national problem as well as a state one and suggest the need for further exploration at all levels.

**Total disciplinary actions include alternative placements as well as suspensions and expulsions (with and without services).*

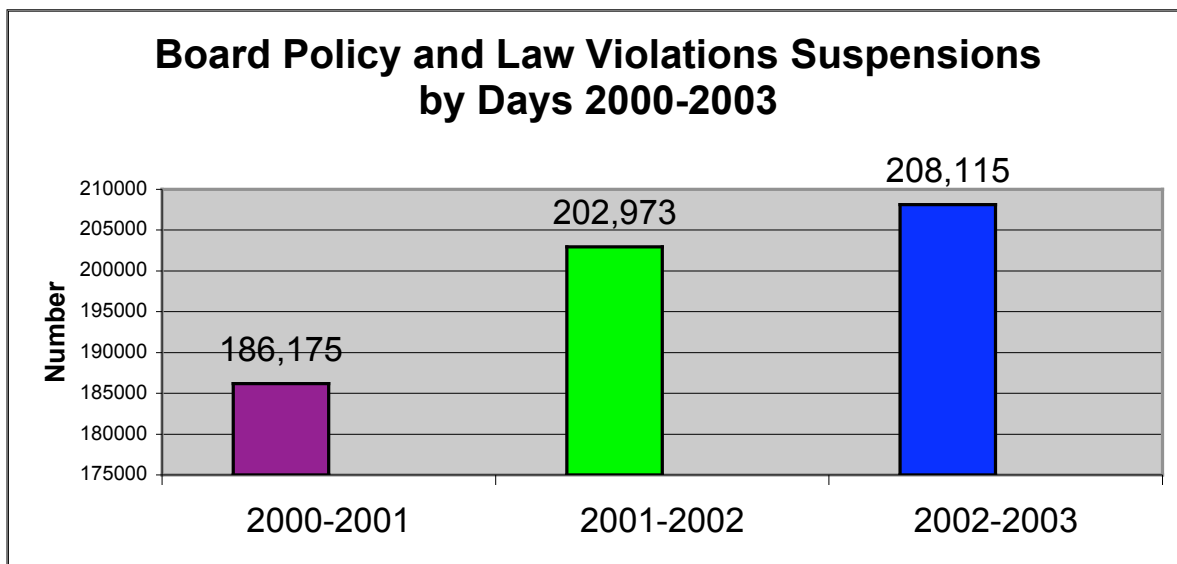

Disciplinary actions for all law violations are depicted in Chart 14. As seen with board violations, suspensions for law violations continue to rise showing a 7.75% increase from '00-01 to '01-02. Expulsions, both with and without services, continued to show a dramatic decrease (43.98% and 43.33% respectively).

14

Chart 15 illustrates the numbers of school days that students were suspended from '00-01 to '02-03 for board policy and law violations. The number of suspension days increased 9% in 2001-2002 over the 2000-2001 school year with an additional 2.5% increase from the 2001-2002 days to 2002-2003 totals.

KCSS has divided the school districts into eight regions (Map 1) to maintain consistency with past reporting. This section of the report will disaggregate the school safety data by these geographical regions to examine regional differences in disciplinary actions of board policy and law violations.

Section III Regional Level Data

Kentucky School District Regions

|                  | Enrollment | PercentageAfrican-Amer. |
|------------------|------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. West          | 69,445     | 12.4                        |
| 2. Southwest     | 96,967     | 7.3                         |
| 3. Jefferson Co. | 91,727     | 34.7                        |
| 4. North         | 92,615     | 3.5                         |
| 5. Central       | 98,787     | 11.9                        |
| 6. South Central | 91,433     | 2.2                         |
| 7. Northeast     | 46,776     | 1.6                         |
| 8. Southeast     | 41,281     | .7                          |

To facilitate comparisons between regions, the standardized measurement of rate per 100 is used on the following maps. The rate listed indicated how many incidents of disciplinary actions occurred in relation to every 100 students in the region.

Map 2 shows the regional rate of disciplinary actions for board policy violations for all students. Jefferson County again reports the lowest rate, 9.66 per 100, for board policy violations and the South Central region the highest, 15.99. Jefferson County and the Southwest region rates cluster together at the low end of the range while the other six regions show a higher rate overall.

Statewide Rate = 13.27

Disciplinary Actions for Board Policy Violations 2002-2003 – All Students

Disciplinary actions for law violations are shown on Map 3. The Southwest region reports the lowest rate at .59 per 100 and Jefferson County at 3.26 reports the highest rate.

Statewide Rate = 1.30

Disciplinary Actions for Law Policy Violations 2002-2003 – All Students

Map 4 displays the disciplinary actions for white students for board violations. Jefferson County reports the lowest rate, 6.22 per 100, for disciplinary actions for board violations while the South Central region reports the highest rate, 15.92.

Statewide Rate = 11.84

Disciplinary Actions for Board Policy Violations 2002-2003 – White Students

The Southwest region reported the lowest rate of disciplinary actions of white students for law violations (Map 5), .57 per 100, while Jefferson County reported the highest rate, 2.28.

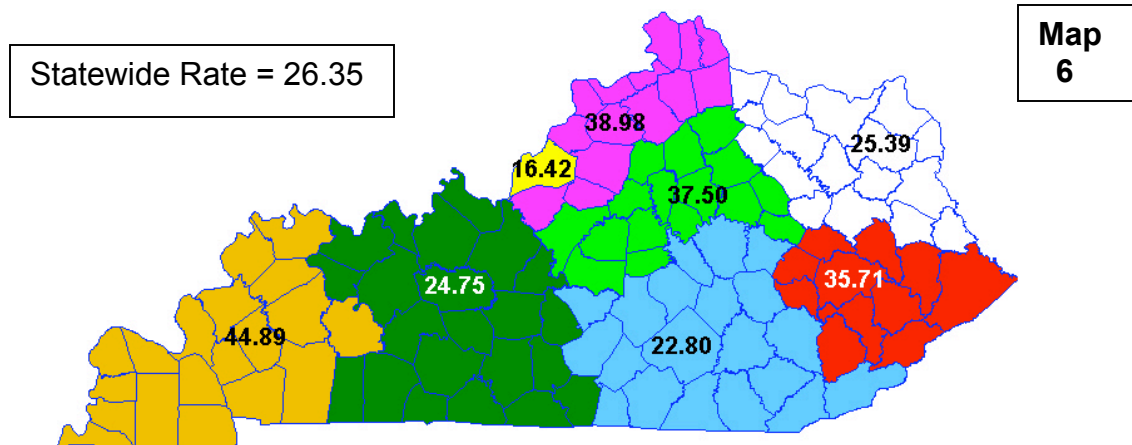

Statewide Rate = 1.05

Disciplinary Actions for Law Policy Violations 2002-2003 – White Students

Jefferson County's African-American population is 34.7%; however, they reported the lowest state rate of 16.42 per 100 disciplinary actions for African-American students for board policy violations during the '02-03 school year. Conversely, the West region with an African-American population of 7.3% reports the highest rate of 44.89 per 100. Although the other six regions report a lower rate per 100, considering the extremely small minority population in some of the regions, African-Americans are particularly over-represented in disciplinary actions. (Map 6).

Disciplinary Actions for Board Policy Violations 2002-2003 – African-American Students

The southeast region reports the lowest rate, .95, of disciplinary actions for African-American students for law violations while Jefferson County has the highest rate at 5.22 per 100 as shown in Map 7.

Disciplinary Actions for Law Policy Violations 2002-2003 – African-American Students

Districts are encouraged to examine their data over the three years of reporting. Additionally, districts are encouraged to make comparisons to other districts of similar size, to their region, and to the state. Similar comparisons can be made between building level data to other schools in their district as well as comparisons to their district, region and the state. Keep in mind that data should be reviewed in context to understand the full meaning of the data and to avoid misinterpretation.

Section IV District Level Data

Occurrence of School District Disciplinary Consequences for Law and Board Violations

Table I reports the number of disciplinary actions for law and board violations for each Kentucky school district from the 2000-2001 school year until the 2002-2003 school year. County districts (in bold type) are organized alphabetically with independent school districts shown beneath the county school district they adjoin. The data in this table represent the raw number of reported disciplinary consequences associated with specific incidents. Attendance data collected by the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) are shown in the enrollment column. Membership data are collected once yearly and are the most accurate snapshot of a district's total number of students.

Note: Local school boards are responsible for determining what disciplinary consequences are permissible in their schools. Some school boards have enacted policies prohibiting the use of corporal punishment; therefore, the data contained in the following table under corporal punishment reflect only those districts where it is allowed.

Standard Scale of Measurement

The following tables utilize a standard scale of measurement, rate per 100, to facilitate comparison between districts of dissimilar sizes. Therefore, the rate listed indicates how many incidents occurred in relation to every 100 students in the given districts. Districts are grouped by size to allow for more meaningful comparisons and due to the small number of expulsions across the state, expulsions with and without services are combined in these tables. District rates for disciplinary actions for all students are shown in Table 2. The same data are shown in Tables 3 and 4, but have been disaggregated to show the rates for white and African-American students.

Note: A relatively small number of incidents can have a more dramatic effect on the rate per 100 in very small districts and in districts with a small number of African-Americans which may distort interpretation.

Districts not found in Tables 3 and 4 were not reported at the district level because the number of African-American students was so small that reporting the numbers might make them “personally identifiable” in violation of federal privacy laws (Federal Educational Rights and Privacy Act, FERPA). Because their numbers were so small in most counties the concern for violating the privacy laws also results in the omission entirely of Asian, Hispanic, American Indian and other racial groups from the tables.

1. Expulsion with educational services
2. Expulsion without educational services
3. Suspension
4. Corporal punishment

The reporting of the Safe Schools data has finished its first five-year cycle. From the pilot year to the current year, the major focus of the project has been to establish a common statewide system of reporting and to increase accuracy. All 176 districts have now converted to the STI software and with each year, districts have had fewer data errors. With the accomplishment of the first major goal of the project, we now turn our attention to taking the next crucial step in our journey.

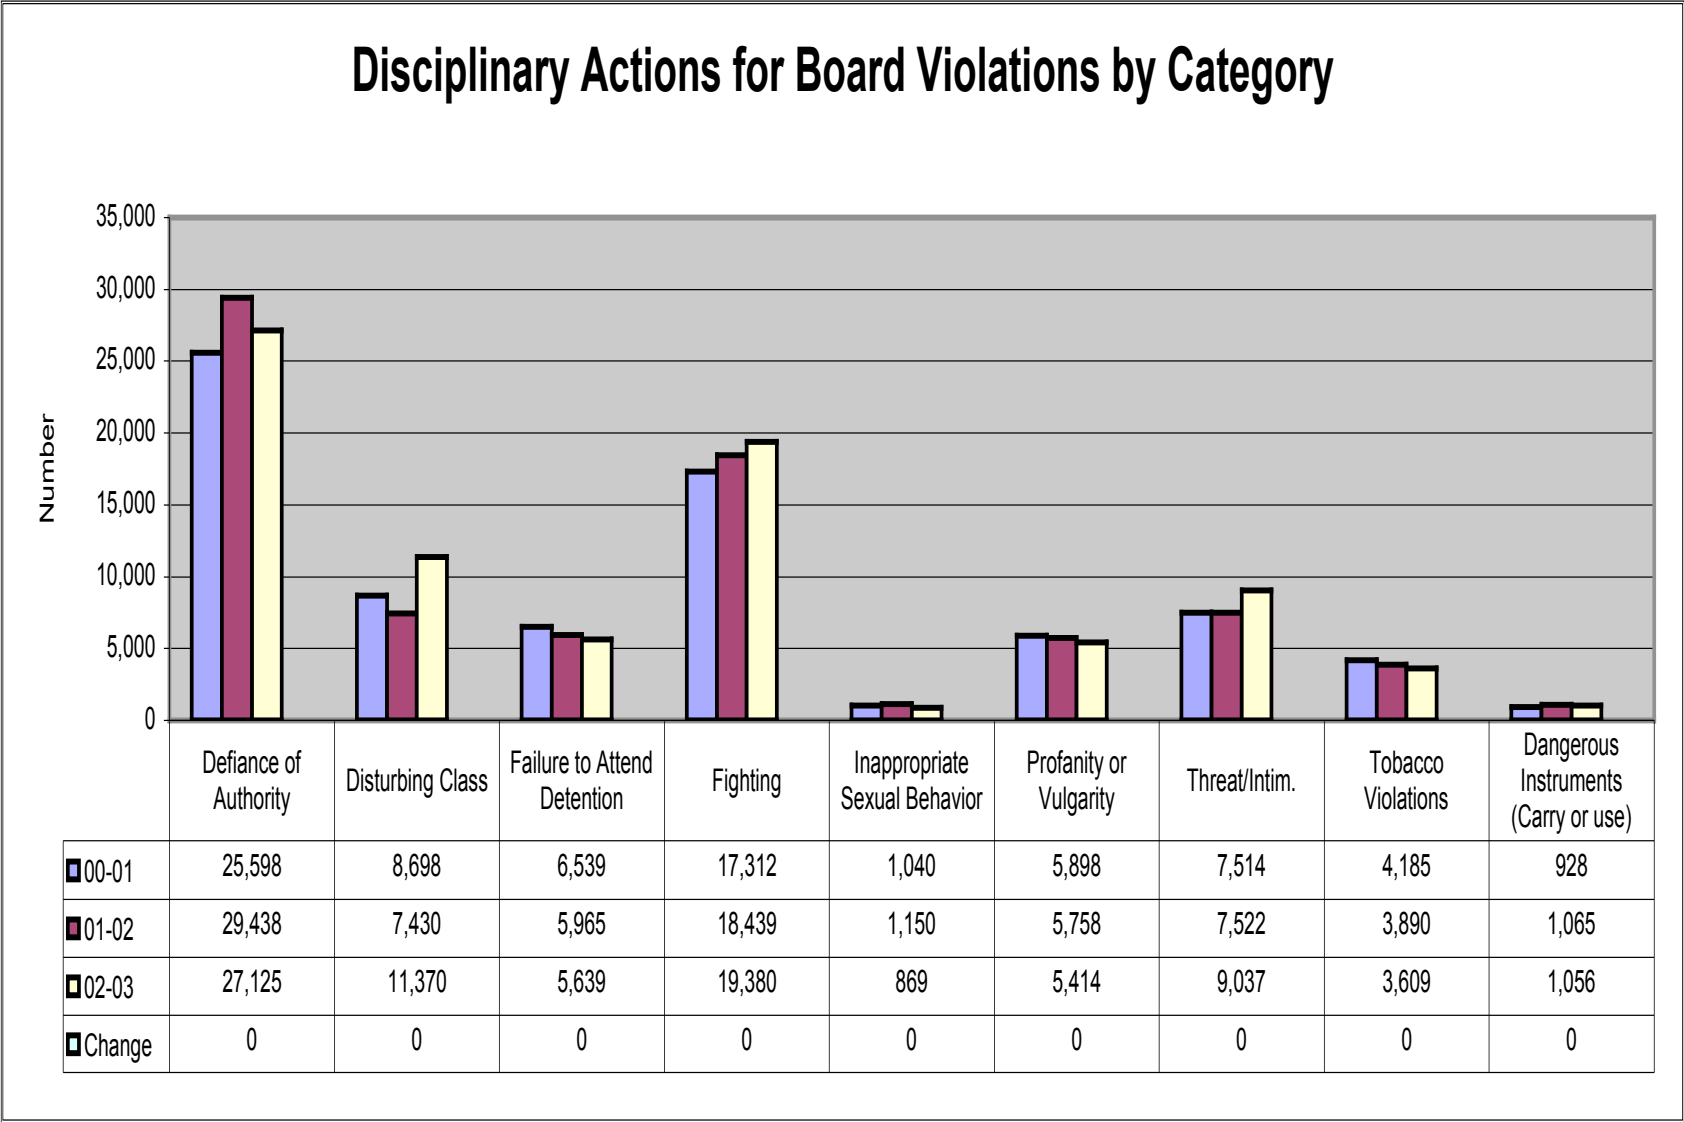

The Kentucky Center for School Safety recognizes that reporting discipline data is the beginning and not the end of the task. Most importantly, the data that are collected must be used to drive planning and decision-making. Since the implementation of Kentucky Educational Reform Act (KERA), school staffs have learned to examine and analyze their academic data with the expressed purpose of using the results to yield academic progress. Staff should take a similar approach in “mining” discipline data. The purpose of using a school’s discipline data is to improve the safety and emotional climate of the school so that students can learn and teachers can teach. This is not a separate goal from the school’s goal to improve academic performance, but is an integral part of school improvement.

While this report includes a section on using the data in your school, KCSS is prepared to assist schools further with data usage. Training is being developed in this area and will become part of the Center’s training efforts. For additional information regarding training opportunities, check our website at www.kysafeschools.org.

As we close this report, we recognize that continuing to improve the safety of our schools is the driving force behind KCSS. We, however, are not alone in this endeavor as child safety is the shared responsibility of everyone. Let each of us take this responsibility earnestly and make children our number one priority.
